Crafts for Critters the answer to your Holiday Shopping Needs!

Charlottesville, Virginia: On Saturday, November 20th from 10 am to 4 pm at the Holiday Inn located at 1901 Emmet Street you can begin and finish all of your holiday shopping and in doing so, support the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA. At Crafts for Critters a host of local artisans and crafters come together to display and sell their unique wares in support of the animals at the Charlottesville-Albemarle SPCA. With a variety of arts & crafts, this is a great chance to get your holiday shopping done early, then relax and enjoy your Thanksgiving weekend. This event is for the whole family with face painting for kids of all ages and raffle prizes.

Susanne Kogut, SPCA Executive Director noted, “This event offers the community a shopping opportunity to find that special gift for just about everyone on your list. This is the third Crafts for Critters event, and it gets better each time. We are so grateful for all the artists and business partners for making the Crafts for Critters show such a wonderful day.” Crafts for Critters, organizer, Heather Gerry of The Jade Butterfly, explained “all of the crafters love the SPCA and all it does to help the animals in our community. We are just happy that we can do something to support such an important cause.”
